

Home Grown Meetings & Conference Opportunities!

Have you ever considered having your association's regional or state meetings or conferences in your own hometown? Lafayette - West Lafayette are thriving, bustling cities of commerce with the added ambiance of a Big Ten University community. The area's diversity and contrast is large enough to create a metropolitan atmosphere, yet small enough to retain the charming warmth and character of small town Indiana. Our community has many home grown opportunities to cultivate the perfect meeting with professional conference space, excellent hotel accommodations, and phenomenal resources at Purdue University.

The Lafayette-West Lafayette Convention & Visitors Bureau (CVB) is the primary hospitality information source for the community, including complimentary assistance in meeting planning services. From the pre-meeting assistance to the on-site services, with enough time and planning, we can help with your association or organization's meeting or conference set-up every step of the way.

We provide the meeting planner with a wide variety of hotels, facilities, services and entertainment activities in a community that specialize in first class hospitality. Whether it's a traditional convention hotel setting, a 6,000 seat theatre that rivals Radio City Music Hall, or a small historic theatre or venue, we have a facility for your association or organization! The Lafayette -West Lafayette CVB knows that each meeting must be customized; we know the resources in the community and how best to access them to make each one a success.

Outside the conference activities, Lafayette-West Lafayette has several attractions that you may already know about but your attendees won't want to miss. Any of these venues would be excellent choices for networking and educational opportunities. Not only can the L-WLCVB provide brochures that describe our unique and exciting attractions, we can also create programs and tours for your group.

Tap into the home grown opportunities and resources for your next meeting or conference! Contact the Lafayette-West Lafayette Convention & Visitors Bureau for more information.
